

Will we become
citizens of cities
rather than nations?

■■■
The better the question. The better the answer.
The better the world works.

EY
Building a better
working world

An aerial night view of a city with glowing lights and a yellow frame. The city is illuminated with warm yellow and orange lights, contrasting with the dark blue and black tones of the night sky and buildings. A prominent yellow frame surrounds the central text, and a yellow diagonal line is visible in the bottom right corner.

How can you
build a strong city
pulse, without taking the human pulse?

The better the question. The better the answer.
The better the world works.

Building a better
working world